Cleveland's Newest Maker Space wants YOU to get involved!

Ingenuity Cleveland is thrilled to partner with Fab House Cleveland to build energy around a brand new Fab Space in the Glenville Neighborhood! Ingenuity will support a season-long project alongside Fab House, Literary Cleveland and Mantles & Makers, focused on community storytelling and digital fabrication, made possible by the Cleveland Foundation Equity in the Arts Fund.

This summer, we'll meet Glenville area residents for free, twice-monthly workshops to gather stories and create a permanent artwork to be displayed at the new Fab House facility, in partnership with Ingenuity collaborators Sankofa Fine Arts Plus, Spice Cream Truck and artist Brett Woods Hill. Follow the event on Facebook to learn more, and sign up to get involved!

See Our Light

Glenville Storytelling & Digital Fabrication Project

Presented By
Glenville's Newest
Creative Space,
Fab House!

ABOUT FAB HOUSE

There is a persistent disparity and digital divide between majority & minority communities across the United States. Less access to digital technology and digital skills are barriers to jobs, wealth building, health, and overall quality of life.

Fab House Cleveland is a community-based innovation space, teaching people of all ages digital fabrication technology skills with collaborators from all over the world. Our mission is to bridge the opportunity divide through technology and human capital.

ABOUT SEE OUR LIGHT

See Our Light is an art installation and storytelling project.

We are celebrating history, arts and culture in the Glenville community with the arts of storytelling and artistic expression through digital fabrication - a set of technologies for building and "making." A project of Fab House Cleveland and Mantles & Makers in partnership with Literary Cleveland and Ingenuity Cleveland, this collaboration works with residents to capture stories through oral and written composition forms. Next, we will use these words and stories to create a physical community art installation and exhibition.

Workshops will introduce writing and art-making techniques which will be combined into a final art installation for permanent display.

SCHEDULE

Writing and storytelling workshops will be held:

- June 11 from 10am-12pm at CPL Langston Hughes Branch
- June 25 from 10am-12pm at CPL Glenville Branch
- July 9 from 10am-12pm at CPL Glenville Branch
- July 23 from 10am-12pm at CPL Glenville Branch

PLUS: Join us for a community Make-a-thon
September 10th to see your words brought to life!

Attend one session or the whole series!

Around the globe, Expos have offered the chance to gather around new ideas and pressing challenges, highlighting extraordinary feats of human imagination and, at their best, bringing people together and bridging gaps between citizens, companies, governments & organizations. And, just like Cleveland's own Great Lakes Exposition, which nearly a hundred years ago helped draw Cleveland out of the Great Depression with a burst of energy, Expos can offer the chance to foster civic and regional pride, attract visitors, and provide much-needed celebration in the midst of recovery from challenging years. Will you join us?
