Announcing the Ingenuity Bal: Rust Belt Renaissance!

In 2025, Ingenuity Cleveland is celebrating its 20th full season of programming with a Rust Belt Renaissance, revisiting the rich industrial history that brought Cleveland to life! Ingenuity is proud to make its home in the St. Clair-Superior neighborhood of Cleveland's East side, an area known for its vibrant history of manufacturing, and for building the city as we know it today.

IngenuityLabs, Ingenuity's year-round incubator and Crucible of Creation, is situated in the 100-year old former Osborn Manufacturing Company. Today, we are breathing new light, life and innovation into one of Cleveland's many former bustling industrial sites.

We are so excited to announce our 2025 Bal fundraiser, the Ingenuity Bal: Rust Belt Renaissance, taking place Saturday, May 10th at IngenuityLabs!

The Ingenuity Bal: Rust Belt Renaissance will celebrate the beginning of Ingenuity's 2025 season of programming with an evening of rebirth and revitalization featuring the Tesla Orchestra, flame effects, metal arts, music and dancing, hands-on demonstrations from IngenuityLabs Incubator members, hors d'oeuvres, craft cocktails and more!

The annual Ingenuity Bal is a slightly off-kilter gala unlike anything else in town, supporting Ingenuity's year-round programming! Once known as the Bal Ingenieux, the event pays homage to Cleveland's exclusive arts club that dominated modernist arts in the city from the 1910s until the 1940s. The Kokoon Club's annual "Bal Masque" challenged artistic norms with the most unconventional parties around.
